ARMADA

Under the auspices of the Armada branch of the Canadian Legion, the Legionnaires and the general public met at the Armada hall on Remembrance Day in honor of those who sacrificed their lives in the last two great wars. The service was conducted by Rev. A.P. James of Armada, who offered prayers for the dead and condolences to those left behind to mourn their dead. Two minutes silence followed the sounding of the Last Post. Rev. James gave an inspiring address period. Mrs. Norris Hanna played the music for the hymns.

RICHMOND HILL

Honoring Mrs. Edith Dawson and Mr. Dave Irwin, whose marriage takes place this week, neighbors and friends of the district gathered at the Gothard home on Thursday last to tender them a shower and card party. Mrs. Messerli assisted Mrs. Gothard as hostess. A gaily decorated basket piled high with many lovely and useful gifts, was brought in and presented to the bride-elect, who very suitably thanked all those assembled. The evening was brought to a happy conclusion with the serving of a dainty lunch.

The Girl Cadets wish to thank the residents of Vulcan and district for the wonderful support given them and the interest shown in their activities. Their special thanks go to the Canadian Legion for the generous donation of $100 and for the use of the Legion hall, and to C. R. Engen - Carter Wedding, Calgary

A pretty wedding of interest here was solemnized at St. Michael's and All Angels Anglican church, Calgary, Saturday at 7:30 p.m., when Miss Peggy Winnifred Carter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. Carter, Calgary, was united in marriage to Mr. Gordon LeRoy Engen, second son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Engen, Vulcan. Rev. Reeves officiated.

The bride was attractively gowned in traditional white, with which she wore a long net veil and carried a bouquet of shaggy white mums. She was attended by Miss Joan Wilson, as bridesmaid.

Mr. Gordon McKay, Vulcan, was best man.

Immediately following the ceremony a reception for 50 guests was held in the Avenue Grill.

After a short honeymoon the young couple will make their home in Calgary.

Problems of Rural Municipalities Discussed at Convention

Annual Municipal Gathering Discusses Social Service Tax, Other Taxes, Bigger Grants Roads

Protest against the Social Service tax was registered at the annual convention of Alberta municipalities. This meeting was attended by councillors from this district and all other parts of the province. J. M. Wheatley, president, said that though municipalities had only 42% of the population they contributed 70% of the social service tax. The per capita tax was $2.23 for those in municipalities, $1.02 for L.I.D.'s, 41 cts. for towns and 75 cts. for cities. Hon. C. E. Gerhart, minister of municipal affairs, said that when the tax was first applied it was asked that it be confined to land only and not improvements. That is the reason that the city contribution is low. When the service tax was applied the cities gave up a special tax on income.

Mr. Gerhart also announced that Alberta is willing to enter a special tax agreement with the Dominion government as a temporary measure to give time for rewriting the constitution. He said, however, that the federal policy of centralization had removed from provinces the right to decide what social services they should have. Alberta would vacate income, corporation and succession taxes in return for a fixed per capita grant. The province would want the entire gas tax field for main revenue. At present the province has a part of the gas tax and revenues from car licenses and liquor.

Bigger Road Grants
Another request of the convention was for bigger grants for road building and graveling, also a definite bridge program to replace old bridges definitely out of repair. It was urged that the province bear 50% of the costs of education.

Mr. Wheatley in urging a greater grant for roads, brought up the matter of van transportation resulting from the government's large school divisional plan. This means upkeep of roads for school vans, and help is needed to keep such roads open.

Special Three-Way Grant
Hon. W. A. Fallow, minister of Public Works, announced that the provincial government had spent $100,000 on a special three-way road grant in the past year.

Many of the delegates appeared not to have heard of this arrangement, but Mr. Fallow said it was done at request of the Association. It was explained that the provincial government provides a fifty-fifty grant for some roads, on the dollar for dollar basis. Then besides there is the three-way arrangement, where the municipality can't pay a half, but ratepayers along the affected road are willing to pay a third, the province supplies a third of the cost. This doesn't cut into the 50-50 grant.

Mr. Wheatley claimed this was all news to him, and only about a third of those present knew of the arrangement.

A resolution urged that the government pay road grants only on roads recommended by the Municipality.

Width of Road Allowances
Considerable time was spent on discussion of road allowances. Delegates stated that in building a road they need the dirt from the full 66 feet, but these poles interfere with the construction of the road.

Mr. Fallow said the province is buying extra land for its main highways, making the right-of-way 99 feet wide, and another six feet is usually purchased for the telephone poles.

He said the power companies have to move their poles off whenever requested by the government to do so and advised interested municipalities to pass on their requests to the government. So far as the poles of the rural telephone companies were concerned, the municipalities would have to deal directly with them.

50% Gas Revenue
Increased grants to municipal districts or the return of 50 per cent of the revenues from truck license sales and gasoline tax was also urged of the provincial government. Taxes on land, and for social services and school purposes

Presumed Dead, Former Vulcan Woman Turns Up

Officially presumed dead more than one year ago, a former Vulcan woman arrived back in Calgary Sunday night very much alive.

The woman is Mrs. Sylvia Cuban Gertrude Hollister, and she arrived in Calgary with the east-bound contingent of passengers who recently reached Vancouver on the first peacetime passenger run to the Dominion from Australia.

In May, 1945, a decree presuming her death was granted in Alberta Supreme Court.

At the time the decree was granted by Mr. Justice C. A. Ford, the story was told in court of how Mrs. Hollister's family broke up and disappeared to New Zealand and Australia.

The decree was granted on application of Lacey James Hollister, husband of the woman.

A resident of Vulcan since early childhood, Mr. Hollister said in an affidavit he had married Sylvia Ranby at Keoma in November, 1921. His wife, he understood, had been born and raised in New Zealand.

Vanished in '29
In September, 1929, after having lived together continually in the meantime, Mrs. Hollister disappeared.

Enquiries indicated she and her mother had left for New Zealand after the death of Mr. Ranby. A sister later followed them and it was later learned the mother died "down under." Then Mrs. Hollister was believed to have gone to Australia and final contact with her was lost when the sister also was reported to have died in New Zealand.

Mr. Hollister, a resident of Vulcan, has since remarried.

Long Beach, California, and will spend the winter there.

The curling and skating rink opened officially on Wednesday, Nov. 27, with the curling club sponsoring a bonspiel starting on that date.

Miss Jean Hagg, R.N., of High River, is visiting relatives in the town and district.

The Women's Association bazaar and tea held on Saturday, Nov. 23, in the community hall, was well attended despite the condition of the roads and the inclement weather. All articles left over will be on sale at a later date. Thanks is extended to all those who donated and to those who attended.

Second Anniversary of Charter Night Celebrated by Lions Club

Lion Members and Guests Enjoy Banquet and Dance Tuesday Night

On Tuesday evening the Odd Fellows' hall was the scene of a banquet, program and dance when the Vulcan Lions Club members, their ladies and invited guests celebrated the second anniversary of the local club's charter night. Lions District Governor Ray E. Nelson of Choteau, Montana representatives of Nanton, Carmanray and Champion Lions Clubs, members of the Vulcan Elks lodge, and other invited guests were among the 150 present.

The banquet, consisting of roast wild duck with all the trimmings, was prepared and served by the Lions' ladies. The president of the Vulcan club, John Jamison, introduced District Governor Nelson, who gave a short address, and other guests were welcomed by Merv McIntyre, immediate past president. Lion Fred M. Anderson gave the invocation.

Preceded and followed by community singing, the program consisted of a radio program and quiz show, conducted by Albert Collier. This humorous skit was well received by all. Those taking part in it were Clay Snow, Gordon Clayton, Merv McIntyre and Albert Collier.

Two vocal solos by Miss Ginter were greatly enjoyed.

Dancing was enjoyed after the program, with Merv McIntyre acting as floor manager. Music was supplied by the Merry-makers orchestra.

The past year has been an active and successful one for the Vulcan Lions Club. Although much has been accomplished in other lines of endeavor such as the staging of a rodeo and, in co-operation with the Elks, the running of two very successful carnivals, the highlight of the year has been the completion of the $24,000 Memorial Swimming Pool and Memorial Stone.

Calgary Wedding Of Local Interest

ROE — MEADOWS

Of interest to a wide circle of friends in southern Alberta was the early afternoon ceremony solemnized at South Calgary United church Tuesday, when Helen Kathleen Meadows, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Meadows of Blackie, Alta., became the bride of Orville M. Roe, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. B. Roe of Vulcan, Alta.

Rev. M. Dobson officiated at the service, which took place at 2 o'clock before an altar banked with pink and white chrysanthemums and ferns.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was gowned in a floor-length model of traditional white satin which featured trimming of soutache braid outlining the sweetheart neckline and long lilv point sleeves. Her chapel veil was held in place with a feather coronet, and she wore a necklace of pearls as her only jewelry.

Miss Jean A. Gray was the bride's only attendant, attired in a long frock of coral net over taffeta, complemented by a matching shoulder-length veil caught to a halo of carnations.

Grant A. Clark was groomsmen, and the guests were ushered by Elwood E. Myers and Stewart E. Meadows.

Mrs. C. W. Baker played the wedding music, and during the signing of the register Mrs. H. Thurber sang "Until."

Following the service a reception was held in the Brentwood room of the Empress hotel, where the bride's table was decorated with pink and white streamers, and centred with a three-tiered wedding cake flanked by vases of cut flowers and tall white tapers.

Receiving with the bridal party, the bride's mother chose a two-piece ensemble of blue wool studded with nailheads, and complemented with a black hat and accessories, and a corsage of red roses. Mrs. Roe was frocked in a sequin-trimmed gray crepe frock, with which she wore a black hat and accessories, and a shoulder bouquet of red roses.

There are great protests to the government against the drastic income tax demands affecting married women who are working. Nurses and teachers who will quit work under the new ruling are beginning to worry the government, and Ottawa will be short of trained stenographers if all married women quit. the different machines, with the linotype and teletype machines proving of particular interest.

Next stop was McGavin's Bakery, where a carefully organized tour had been arranged. The different baking processes were explained as they were observed, and although it was too late in the day to see the automatic doughnut maker in action, it was not too late to sample its product.

The students had time off to do a little shopping and for other activities and arrived home at 8:30 p.m., in time to go to the Sadie Hawkins dance at the school. The thanks of all the grade nine students and Mrs. Collier go to Mrs. Mensinger, Mr. Lucas and Mr. Rushfeldt, who provided transportation for the day.

Church Members Make Presentation To Mr., Mrs. Elves

The United Church members have been sorry to learn of the departure in the near future of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Elves and Dinah Scott. To show their appreciation of the splendid interest displayed and loyalty given to the local church—extending over the whole of their time in Vulcan—and to wish them the best in their new home in Calgary, a coffee table was presented on behalf of the church organization by Mr. L. F. Dawson on Monday evening, Nov. 25, in the church Sunday school room.

Mr. Robert Jamison presented Mrs. Elves with a bouquet of roses from the choir. In thanking the group, Mr. Elves gave a short history of the growth of the congregation of the United Church, and Mrs. Elves also made an appropriate response.

Many references were made by clotters to the early days of the church in Vulcan. Mr. Elves has been an active worker in church life for over forty years and Mrs. Elves has been organist for many years.

Champion Hunter Bags Big Elk

An elk with a horn spread of 53 inches was recently bagged by Bud Siler of Champion while hunting on the Zephyr Creek, 23 miles southwest of Little Rock.

Prior to this, the largest set of elk horns ever brought into High River was a 49-inch spread, so Bud's trophy is something of a record. He is having the elk head mounted.

TEACHER SHORTAGE

A statement made at the Teachers' convention in Calgary, by Eric Ansley, general secretary of the A.T.A. was that there is a shortage of 2000 teachers in Alberta at the present time. There are 600 schools closed in the province according to the Dep't of Education. That means that there must be several thousand children in our province who are not getting the training and discipline which is realized through regular school attendance.

Various speakers at the convention were of the opinion that the situation would be worse by next September. The small attendance now at training schools indicates a lack of general interest in teaching as a profession. There are a number of the older teachers who will be eligible for retirement, and a number who will branch out in other lines. So the replacements are unlikely to be equal to the loss of personnel.

Another angle which is likely to result in the loss of valuable members of the profession is the income tax regulations respecting married women workers. The heavy tax required of a family where husband and wife are both wage earners is so drastic that it will scarcely pay a married woman to continue teaching. This income tax imposition is likely to remove many married women from the teaching profession, as well as from other wage earning fields.

Whatever the need in other lines, there is no question that married women are still seriously required as teachers. Some of the speakers emphasized that married women make excellent teachers, and should be given every encouragement to continue in their profession, if their home circumstances permit. Any list of teachers from any of the large school divisions will indicate the great number of married women who are engaged in teaching. Their return to the work has been a godsend in these years of shortage, and their withdrawal in any considerable numbers would be a real blow. This is just another matter to take up with Mr. Illsley.

Admittedly the teaching profession does not offer great financial rewards, and it is quite true that prevailing salary schedules have not kept pace with the higher cost-of-living, nor are they comparable with earnings which might be made in skilled trades. It is rather ironic that society places a higher value on the skills required in turning out parts of an automobile, or household gadgets than the skill involved in developing a child. Until the importance of the teaching profession is recognized in a material way, with higher maximums and better retirement pensions, the shortage of recruits for this profession is likely to continue.

However, teaching carries with it certain intangible rewards, which are a great compensation. In this respect, teachers are kin to research workers whose painstaking work in laboratories is never adequately repaid. Teachers are the instruments through whom youthful character develops and youthful talents unfold. They occupy a key position in national development. It is their touch, their direction, which releases the abilities upon which national progress is made. It has always been so. No matter how poorly they have been paid, they give their best in the training of the young. They do have the satisfaction of knowing they have prepared many a youth for the responsibilities of a great future. These inner satisfactions cannot be realized in most other lines of endeavor. But enthusiasm tends to dull if there is too great a discrepancy between work and earnings. No profession and no trade should be more highly paid than teachers.

Sour Milk In Poultry Mash

Poultry is much in demand and quality is important. The public shows preference for grade A and there is from 5 to 8 cents a pound difference between high and low grades.

Although crate feeding gives the best results, an easy way to improve fleshing as practised at the Experimental Station at Harrow Ont. is to pour liquid sour skim milk along the surface of the mash in the hoppers twice daily. Only enough milk should be given that can be used within 20 minutes, and sufficient hopper space should be provided to accommodate all birds at once. Detailed information as to various formulas and methods of fattening poultry will be furnished on request by the Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa.

Municipal Convention

were as high as the average quarter-section could carry, and councils were unable to cope with the situation, it was said.

The government was urged to continue its policy in which the Hours of Work Act is not applicable to municipal district roadwork employees. Because the season for roadwork was short and labor was scarce it was felt some allowance should be made for these employees. Delegates said it was work which was important and couldn't be done in an eight-hour day.

Rich Land

Arthur McClymonds of Nebraska, prominent U.S. soil conservationist, said Canada had the richest land in the world, but it could be destroyed by erosion. Planting of coarse grasses along highways, and strip farming were recommended.

Oppose Hutterites

Strong opposition to Hutterites being allowed to buy additional land was shown at the convention. A resolution was passed unanimously urging the provincial government to maintain its legislation prohibiting Hutterites from buying or renting land. The provincial legislation restriction forbidding land purchase as a war measure expires in the spring of 1947. One charge was that Hutterites took everything from a community and gave back nothing. By trees as a windbreak, growing communal living their standards were lower, and they were unable to buy land on communal basis.

Amend Land Titles

The Alberta government will be asked to amend the Land Titles Act or the Municipal Districts Act, or both, so that a pre-requisite condition to the registration of plans of subdivisions or a transfer of a parcel of land shall be the production of a certificate from the M.D. office showing that taxes have been paid.

This was done because in the sale or transfer of land, purchasers must sometimes pay penalties on back taxes.

Hoard of wealth hidden in unusual spots continue to be reported and probably indicate a great fear of dependence upon others. The latest case is that of Mrs. Minnie Weigle who died last month. Mrs. Weigle was a recluse and the executors of the estate found $469,500 in cash in a secret compartment of an old trunk. Previous to this find, $89,500 was located in securities and uncashed cheques.

Dear Sirs:
The shortage of materials for line extension is national. We shall now have to delay your shipment again. We are doing all we can to help send the material we know you urgently need.

A Pole Line Equipment Co.

This kind of mail explains the delays in new service connections—even though we are now and have been making service connections at a more rapid pace than we did before the war. Equipment is even harder to get now than during the war -- we have not been able to keep up with our orders for new connections, and new transmission line construction is also being delayed. We are doing all we can -- and thank you for your patience.

president, said that the convention couldn't accept the statement that there was not sufficient money in the province. Government revenue from the one luxury item of liquor is 8 million dollars, and that is more than twice as much as they spend on education.

Big Plans — Little Money

A. G. Andrews, secretary said: "School trustees are endeavoring to operate a system of education formulated by the provincial government, without adequate funds to do this successfully. The results of such a policy are: (a) an acute shortage of qualified teachers; (b) below average teacher material; (c) poor school buildings in many parts of the province, and (d) inadequate teaching facilities."

One resolution passed in the afternoon "urged" the provincial government "to bear at least 50 percent of the cost of education in Alberta." It added that a "strong publicity committee" should be appointed "to gather information and arrange campaign meetings throughout the province to bring the importance of this matter to the attention of the provincial government."

Another called on the Dominion government to bear "a large portion" of the cost of education.

Another asked the provincial government to make special financial provisions for education in new settlements being opened up for ex-servicemen, instead of leaving the full responsibility with the school divisions.

Because of the critical shortage of teachers it is imperative that qualified married women be induced to accept position, stated another resolution, but they are usually deterred because of the heavy income taxation. It was therefore asked that the tax on the income of married women re-entering the profession should be cut to little or nothing.

L. K. B. C. Report

The "Cameron Report" which has been adopted by the British Columbia government was held up as a model for Alberta by several speakers. It commits the B.C. government to bear 55 percent of the cost of education, including 50 percent of the cost of new buildings.

The president said that the major part of total money for education is now raised by tax on land and property. This is a serious figure, particularly because of uncertain returns from agriculture. This year, for example, which promised a bumper crop, is only half a crop. Centralization of education is a declared policy of the department, and it will not be long till educational interests of rural and urban children are identical. The demand for instruction in scientific agriculture is growing and should be encouraged. Rural children should receive the type of education fitting them to be successful farmers.

Minister of Education

Hon. R. E. Ansley, minister of education, said that school grants paid by the government had increased 150% while provincial revenues had increased only 75%. Twenty per cent. of government expenditures were for education. The problem of increased expenditures, he said, would not be solved by taking money from highway and health. He thought municipalities turned too much to senior governments for financial assistance.

Must Know More Of World Affairs

Mrs. O. L. McPherson Would Place Emphasis in School Courses on Factual Study of History, Past and in the Making

(From High River Times)
Mrs. O. L. McPherson who accompanied her husband on his recent speaking tour through U.S.A., addressed Rotary on Thursday evening on impressions which she had gleaned on their tour. She also had been pressed into service in this lecture tour, and addressed many groups of high school students and others. This gave her interesting contacts and experiences, and out of it all, she says: "I have emerged a much better Canadian with a greater knowledge of my country. And I did try to be an interpreter of this country to any American audience."

She found that the students whom she met were interested in Canada, and were full of practical questions on the subject. But there was a great lack of knowledge of the Dominion and its status in the Commonwealth. A not uncommon question was "What would Britain do if United States took over Canada?" This always gave opportunity to explain Canada's independent status, her freedom of action, and her satisfaction in her present connection as an important member of the British Commonwealth.

While lack of knowledge of Canada's resources and political setup may be found in United States, it is even more startling to find a similar lack of knowledge amongst Canadians. For example, said the speaker, a Gallup poll in 1945 showed quite a percentage of Canadians who could not name the

Long Time to Hold Farmers' Money

(Fred Kennedy in Calgary Herald)

The federal government is withholding from our prairie farmers quite large sums of money for five years. One hundred and sixty million bushels of wheat for each of two years are being sold to Britain at $1.55, basis No. 1 Northern Fort William but the government is paying our prairie farmers on a basis of $1.35 only.

This means the government is withholding from farmers 20 cents a bushel for five years. One hundred and sixty million bushels to Britain, however, is not much more than half the wheat, that has to be sold to all other countries, and at a price far in excess of $1.55.

The price today for this other so-called "free wheat" is $2.19 a bushel. This means that on about one half of our wheat the government is also withholding from farmers around 84 cents a bushel, again for five years. This, it seems to me, is unnecessary. All this money would be far better in the hands of the Dominion treasury for five years.

In short, it occurs to me, and to many others incidentally that the government is withholding from our prairie farmers, in cash, far too much for too long.

Prime Minister of Canada, and 81 per cent of the Canadians interviewed did not know anything about the Plains of Abraham or what happened there. Before feeling any surprise at lack of knowledge of Canada which may be met in other countries, it would be a good plan to try to remedy the ignorance amongst ourselves.

Another impression which Mrs. McPherson gathered in her tour, both in Canada and United States, was that there was a tendency to dwell too much on the past. In many areas there were still hangovers of prejudice and feeling from the Civil War, the war of 1812, even the Revolutionary war of 1776. This tendency to dwell on past events hampers progress. One should look forward rather than backward.

For greater ability to meet world problems intelligently, the speaker suggested that more emphasis be placed in all schools on history and current developments. Knowledge of the development of one's own country is important, and so also is the knowledge of relations with other countries, and the progress of affairs in these countries. And above all the histories should be accurate, standard works. She suggested that the Carnegie fund for furthering international understanding could go far in providing clarifying class room history.

This Carnegie Foundation for International Peace has already spent large sums on Canadian-American history. A series of 25 to 30 books have been written by outstanding historians in both countries, with the Carnegie foundation paying the bills.

In conclusion she said: "If democracy is to work in the world, students must be instructed in international affairs. Teachers in schools should be better paid in order that outstanding teachers may be retained in the profession. Otherwise society as a whole suffers great loss."

An article in a Christian Science Monitor of Aug. 10 issue written by Mrs. McPherson, describes the work of Rotary International in arranging lecture tours to promote international understanding. In the past year the Rotary sent out speakers to address 2500 meetings in 30 Rotary districts of United States and Canada. These speakers (who included Mr. and Mrs. McPherson) as a rule addressed college or high school students in the afternoon and adult audiences in the evening. In many of the cities and towns the sponsoring Rotary Club brought together a number of other similar groups as one audience. Even in some towns where there was no Rotary organization, certain progressive groups communicated with Rotary secretariat in Chicago, and were successful in securing the Rotary-sponsored speakers.

This exchange and circulation of speakers amongst many nations is carried on through Rotary Institute of International Understanding. Amongst topical subjects taken up, and followed by open discussion were "Maintaining world trade," "Making World Organization Effective"; "Constructive use of air transport"; "International Security in the Pacific," and kindred matters of current concern.
